

Aboriginal Trade Routes in the South-East

The dotted lines indicate possible trade routes. Objects were traded only between one tribe and the next, never from one tribe, through a second tribe's territory, to a third tribe.

